LET'S TALK ABOUT SUSTAINABILITY

Our garden rooms, windows and doors are made & recycled in the UK

UPVC has long been recognised as an energy-efficient material for doors and windows. But did you know it's sustainable too? UPVC lasts up to 35 years, it's 95% recyclable and can be recycled up to 10 times. So, it can be reused, with minimal impact on the environment, for 350 years.

Our garden rooms also use timber that's certified as sustainable by the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC). And the cladding is made from 100% recyclable material.

Our pergolas and verandas are made from 100% recyclable aluminium

Aluminium is an excellent metal for many reasons – it's incredibly durable, it's strong, and there's little maintenance. It's also one of the most environmentally friendly metals on the planet. That's because aluminium can be recycled indefinitely!

Our Denver Garden Room offers excellent thermal performance

Our Denver garden room will keep you snug and warm in winter with its 2kW heater. And its PVC-U frames, A-rated double-glazed glass and high-quality insulation work together to keep the heat in, reduce energy consumption and keep your bills down.

USEFUL INFORMATION

CHOOSING THE PERFECT PLACE FOR YOUR GARDEN ROOM

There are a few important things to consider when you're deciding where to put your garden room. So, we've put this guide together to help you.

✓ How is your garden room going to be used?

To ensure you get the right size garden room for your needs, it's important to think about how it will be used now and in the future. For example, if it's going to be an office for one person, is it possible you may need room for two people later? Getting the right size from the start can save you a lot of cost and hassle in future.

✓ What time of day are you going to use it?

The way light comes into a room can change the way it feels. Having the door or windows facing south or west will capture natural light and increase the temperature of the room. But if they're facing north or east, the room may feel dark and cool.

✓ How are you getting to your garden room?

If you're planning to use your garden room all year round, you may want to lay a path from the house to the room so you don't have to walk over wet or muddy grass during the winter.

✓ How will electrics get to your garden room?

All our Denver garden rooms come with electrics, which means a cable will need to be run from the house to the building. So, consider the path of the cable and ensure there are no obstacles in the way.

✓ Consider fences and hedges

If you're planning to put your garden building near a fence or hedge, you'll need to leave a minimum 1m gap. This is to ensure our installers have space to construct the building, but also so you can maintain the hedge or fence and clean the building.

✓ What about your view?

The view from your garden building can change the way you feel about it when you're in it. So, sit in the space you're thinking of using and consider where the doors and windows will be and what you'll be able to see from there. If you want a quiet space where you can work or relax, keep the building away from overlooking neighbours and their barbecue and play areas.

✓ What's the condition of the ground?

Your garden room needs to be built on flat, well-drained ground. So, think about what the ground is like at different times of the year. If it's regularly water-logged, then it's probably not the best place to put it.

USEFUL INFORMATION

PLANNING PERMISSION

Garden rooms

We know applying for planning permission to make changes to your home can be a lot of hassle that takes months to sort out. And we know you don't want to wait! That's why we've carefully designed our garden rooms so that planning permission isn't needed in 90% of cases.

We've achieved this by designing our garden rooms to meet and exceed building regulations. And we've built them to a height that falls within permitted development. However, there are some rare exceptions to this.

You may need planning permission if:

- you want to build in front of the principal elevation of your house (generally classed as the elevation containing the front door)
- you live in a conservation area
- you live in a listed building
- your building takes the total area of land occupied by buildings to over half (not including the original dwelling house as it was in 1947)
- you or anyone else plans to live in the building

Pergolas and verandas

If you plan to put your pergola or veranda at the back of your house, then planning permission normally isn't needed unless you live in a conservation area. However, you will need planning permission if you want to put your pergola or veranda at the front of the house or at the side, between the house and a boundary wall.

If you think you'll need planning permission, or if you're not sure, please consult your local planning office.

FOUNDATIONS

When you're buying a garden room, the foundations may be the last thing you think about. But they're an essential feature. A strong, stable foundation is vital to ensure your garden room is supported for years to come.

We recommend having your garden room installed on a level concrete base or with ground screws.

What are ground screws?

Ground screws are huge screws that are bored deep into the ground. The heads of the screws protrude above the ground providing a stable, level surface for your garden building to be built upon.
